OCHO SUR SUPPORTS DIRESA TO CARE FOR NATIVE COMMUNITIES AGAINST INFLUENZA

19 January, 2022

Residents of Nueva Requena are cared for by health personnel.

Given the emergency call from the authorities of the communities of the district of Nueva Requena, due to the increase in cases of the flu called Influenza, the Regional Government of Ucayali through its Regional Health Directorate (Diresa) immediately went to pay attention to them. medical with the logistical support of the company Ocho Sur.

On this occasion, doctors and nurses evaluated the health status, including Covid-19 and influenza, of children and adults in the population centers of Shambo Porvenir and the Caribbean; as well as the native community Santa Clara de Uchunya.

The residents affected by the influenza outbreak, mainly children, were provided with the necessary treatment and received their medicines free of charge. During this visit, no cases of Covid-19 were detected in the aforementioned communities.

It is important to note that the immediate response of the GORE Ucayali, to the call of the local authorities, was carried out within the framework of the agreement signed by the Diresa with the palm oil company Ocho Sur, which provided the respective logistical support for the doctors and nurses to arrive. on time and could pay due attention.

After the development of this comprehensive health campaign, Bruno Tangoa (head of Shambo Porvenir) and Carlín Tocto Quispe (municipal agent of Caribe) expressed their gratitude for the timely medical attention.

Likewise, James Lozano (lieutenant governor), Alex Soria (health promoter) and Lino Arévalo (municipal agent) of the Santa Clara de Uchunya native community expressed their satisfaction and gratitude to Diresa and Ocho Sur, for the work provided for the benefit of their community members.

For his part, the general manager of Ocho Sur, Michael Spoor, said he was proud of the social responsibility activities carried out by his company, for the benefit of the residents of its neighboring communities.

“These are our ethical values in action. There were many residents, especially affected children who were able to be treated in time. Health is a right for everyone,” stressed the senior official of the palm oil company.

Download Press Release in PDF